Coleridge Bulletin

Index of Bulletin articles published 2020

New Series 55, Summer 2020

Fiona Stafford: Coleridge’s Only Tree: Picturing the Birch
Ralph Pite: Notebooks, Landscapes and Poetry in Coleridge’s Quantocks
Tim Fulford: Coleridge and Davy in the Mountains and on the Page
Paul Cheshire: Beldam Nature: Witch and Goddess
The Editor reviews ‘Coleridge and the Poetry of Nature’ by Greg Leadbetter

Reviews

Jeffrey Barbeau: The Fate of Bibliography and Reviews Editorial
Mark Canuel on Fred Burwick’s A History of Romantic Literature
Sean Barry on Jeff Strabone’s Poetry and British Nationalisms in the Eighteenth Century
Aimee Barbeau on Timothy Michael’s British Romanticism and Political Reason
Nicholas Reid on Murray Evans’s Sublime Coleridge
Robin Whittaker on Van Fox Lloyd’s Anian Straits
Kim Wheatley on Karen Swann’s Lives of the Dead Poets: Keats, Shelley, Coleridge
Linda Reesman on Mark Bruhn’s Wordsworth Before Coleridge
Jessica Oliver on Brad Brannon’s Jonathan Edwards, S T Coleridge and the Will

We Shot the Albatross – The Big Read – Jeff Barbeau interviews Philip Hoare

New Series 54, Winter 2019

Paul Cheshire - Orientalism Bristol Fashion: Charles Fox and Achmed Ardebeili
Verity Merryweather - The Shadow-Line: ‘Alone on a wide, wide sea’
Felix Culpepper - Coleridge at the Trial of William Frend
Waka Ishikura - Sarah and Arabella Lawrence: Coleridge and William Hamilton
Tributes

Jeffrey Barbeau — Marilyn Gaull
Madeleine Callaghan — Michael O’Neill
Graham Davidson and Bruce Graver — Richard Gravil

Reviews

Jeffrey Barbeau Reviews Editorial

Michael Raiger on Wordsworth’s Bardic Vocation, by Richard Gravil
Richard Gravil on Wordsworth’s Monastic Inheritance, by Jessica Fay
Peter Cheyne on The Mysticism of Jakob Böhme, by Cecilia Muratori
Jeff Strabone on Self-Canonization and the Business of Poetry, by Michael Gamer
Anastasia Stelse on The Vocation of Sara Coleridge, by Robin Schofield
Dometa Brothers on Coleridge’s Legacy in Britain and America, by Philip Aherne
William Davis on Handbook of British Romanticism, edited by Ralph Haekel
Heidi Snow on Wordsworth and the Art of Philosophical Travel, by Mark Offord
Andrea Timár on Coleridge and Contemplation, edited by Peter Cheyne
Joshua King on Religion in Romantic England, edited by Jeffrey Barbeau

Nick Dodd on The Coleridge Study Weekend, Halsway, 2019

New Series 53, Summer 2019

Philip Lindholm - Caterpillars and the ‘convulsive agonies’ of the ‘Chrysalis’
Eric Walker Charles Lamb - Emma Isola and the Politics of Adoption, 1820
Michael Raiger - Anna Barbauld’s Influence on Coleridge’s Religious Imagination
Adam Walker - Darwin’s Theory of Repetition and the Primary Imagination
Jodie Lee Heap - Coleridge and Fichte on the Power of Imagination
Jessica Oliver - Self-consciousness and Imagination in the Biographia
Suzanne Webster - Self-consciousness and the Search for Self-Knowledge
Kurtis Hessel Wordsworth - Priestley and the Revolution in Knowledge

Reviews

Jeffrey Barbeau Reviews Editorial

Jonathan Gonzalez on Eduardo Zuccato’s Petrarch in Romantic England

Adam Roberts on J. C. C. Mays’s Coleridge’s Dejection Ode

Peter Larkin on Ewan Jones’s Coleridge and the Philosophy of Literary Form

Brennan O’Donnell on Julia Carlson’s Romantic Marks and Measures

Bruce Graver on The Prelude, edited by James Engell and Michael Raymond

Linda Austin on Beatrice Turner’s Romantic Childhood, Romantic Heirs

Jonathan Gonzalez on Romantic Era Lakeland, a Conference at Keswick